

ABOUT US

OUR MISSION

We from TRAVEL DUDE made it our task to revolutionize traveling with our equipment. We're not only convinced that travel gear can be produced sustainable and fair, but we also want to promote a travel lifestyle in which human and nature find themselves in harmony.

Because the pollution of our environment especially through plastic becomes steadily a bigger problem, we want to actively counteract this trend. Our products are - different from other travel gear - made from recycled PET bottles which leads to the reduction of plastic waste in general. Additionally, the production of our products saves energy and water compared to virgin material.

FROM TRAVELERS FOR TRAVELERS

A big part in the revolution of packing gear is also to design it multifunctional, light-weight, and without unnecessary nonsense.

We from TRAVEL DUDE are experienced travelers and already surrounded the world multiple times. During these times we've had a lot of time to try out different travel equipment and to design our very own in the end.

Julia, the founder of TRAVEL DUDE, is also a passionate backpacker. When she was about to leave for a long trip a couple of years ago and packed her backpack, she realized there were no packing cubes on the market that satisfied her demands.

"The plan was to find a way to keep my backpack organized, save space, keep track of my clothes and still be able to travel light and minimalistic. Since I just could not find a single appealing product on the market, I decided to create my own TRAVEL DUDE."

This is how the idea emerged to create her own packing cubes, which have a higher quality and are made from recycled materials. The name TRAVEL DUDE derives from her obvious love to travel and Julia's nickname "Dude".

Since the beginning she's been testing all her products during her own travels to guarantee the amazing quality and she is eagerly creating new products which are a must-have for every traveler.

In the beginning of TRAVEL DUDE Julia met Patrick on a conference and he was so amazed and inspired by her vision that he decided to go all in with her. For him it was the perfect timing as he was in a job with which he couldn't identify himself any longer. He wanted to help Julia fulfil her dream and they became the perfect team with their mutual goal always in sight.

We are proud about what we're doing every day because we were able to accomplish a lot. Through TRAVEL DUDE and our products not only countless people were inspired and journeys were designed more comfortable, but we also freed the environment from more than 11.000 plastic bottles.

What looks like a small step for the planet is a huge step for us. We will hold on to our vision, live after it and will accomplish even bigger change in the future.
